

Dance with the Wind

By Glenn Currier

The ceiling fan sends its emissary to breathe upon the candle's flame the humble blaze enclosed but free in the small clear glass vessel.
Silently it wiggles and swirls asserts its freedom responds to the breezy envoy with light.

May I and you, constrained and nourished within life's bounds, embrace freedom's grace and respond with light as we dance with the wind.
